

PELLET STOVES — YEARLY MAINTENANCE

YEARLY MAINTENANCE

Yearly maintenance is designed to assure safe operation, prolongs the life of the stove and helps preserve its aesthetic appeal.

1. Spring Shutdown. After the last burn in the spring, cool the stove. Remove all pellets from the hopper and the auger. Thoroughly clean the burn grate, burn grate box, ash pan and ash traps behind the ash pan.
2. The exhaust system should be thoroughly cleaned at least annually. Call a chimney sweep business for this service.
3. The motor/fan area behind the firebox and under the hopper should be vacuumed annually. NOTE: UNPLUG THE STOVE. Open the side panels of the stove. Carefully clean or vacuum any sawdust, cobwebs and household dust. Carefully vacuum around the fan motors. If electrical wires become disconnected call your dealer for service.

4. The exhaust fan should be removed and cleaned annually.
5. Annual oiling of the motors is not recommended except for the convection fan. Fan can easily be removed to access oil ports.
6. Fall Startup. Prior to lighting the first fire, check the outside area around the exhaust and air intake systems for obstructions. Try all controls to see that they are working prior to lighting a fire.

TROUBLESHOOTING

The stove is very trouble free in operation when properly maintained and quality pellets are used. When the stove fails to operate properly, troubleshooting by the operator of the stove is limited to proper cleaning of the stove and exhaust system, proper control setting and pellet quality.

CAUTION: the electrical components of the stove are not owner serviceable. Call your dealer for proper diagnosis of electrical problems and service to those components.
